Harris, septogenarian prospector and free miner, now living in retirement at Port Angeles, is awarded $100,000 in a seven-page judgment handed down in the Supreme Court to-day by Chief Justice Morrison, in the action of Harris versus Lindberg, involving the original ownership of the Big Missouri Group of mineral claims on Salmon River in the Stewart district, Portland Canal.

CAPTAIN ON WRECK AS SEAS RISE

Life of Lone Man on Hulk Off Columbia River in Danger

Cape Lookout, Ore., June 18.—For the first time since he rejected offers of rescue, Captain Louis Johnson of the wrecked freighter Laurel to-day stood in imminent peril. A fifty-mile wind was heaping great seas around him as he clutched fragments of spars and railings of the stern section of the freighter. Great waves at times swept over the broken ship and the coastguard lookout on this promontory had difficulty in seeing the wreckage through the foam and mist.

The 410-foot steamship broke in two Sunday after being driven by a gale on a sandspit at the mouth of the Columbia River.

This morning, when it became light enough, the master of a lifeboat, which could be seen from the lookout station walking to and fro on the slanting deck of the stern section of the ship. From time to time he could be seen looking long at the forward part of the ship, lying some 800 feet seaward of the stern.

NO FLAG FLOWN

Contrary to a radio report received in Portland from the steam freighter Pennsylvania, there was no ensign floating from the stump of the Laurel's mast.

A report that such a signal had been hoisted was made by the Pennsylvania in a radio message to the Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company.

ONE LIFE LOST

When the ship was wrecked Sunday Russell Smith, nineteen, seaman, was drowned. That night eighteen of the crew were rescued. Yesterday the seven remaining crew members were rescued, but Capt. Johnson refused to respond to the entreaties of the coast guardsmen that he desert the wreck and go ashore.

KING'S HORSE IS ASCOT WINNER

Lyme Regis Takes Prince of Wales Stakes; Other Races To-day

Ascot, Eng., June 18 (Canadian Press Cable)—King George's bay colt, Lyme Regis won the Prince of Wales Stakes for three-year-olds over the course of a mile and five furlongs at Ascot to-day. The King's horse won by a short head from M. E. de Stalray's Karabagh, with Edward Esmond's Montclair another short head behind Karabagh. Eight horses ran.

Lyme Regis started at odds of 10 to 1 against Karabagh at 100 to 6 against Montclair at 10 to 1 against.

Ascot, Eng., June 18.—Old Orkney won the famous Ascot Stakes to-day at the opening meet of Royal Ascot Week. Colonel H. A. Walker's Brown Jack was second and The Consul, owned by Lord Lascelles, was third.

Old Orkney, which was a 10 to 1 shot, is owned by S. J. Murphy. Mrs. G. Glorvyn's Troubadour was unplaced, while Gypsy Count, owned by Mrs. John D. Hertz, who also owns Reich Count, did not run.

Old Orkney won by a short head, while there were eight lengths between second and third.

The betting on Brown Jack was 100 to 9, and on The Consul 100 to 9. The stakes had a value of £2,000, with extras, and the distance was two miles.

INCOME OR CAPITAL IS QUESTIONED

Esquimalt Waterworks Company Moves to Set Aside Assessment on Sums Received

Appeal From Provincial Assessor's Ruling to be Heard at Next Sittings

Trial of the issue of whether $35,988 received by the trustees for the Esquimalt Waterworks Company Limited yearly is profit or just the return of a capital sum will take place before the Court of Appeal at the next Vancouver sittings of the court, it was decided by Their Lordships this morning.

H. A. Maclean, K.C., counsel for the appellant water company, moved for withdrawal of the appeal from the current sittings of the court, for re-argument at Vancouver.

The appeal is one from a ruling of T. H. Leeming, Provincial Assessor at the Court of Revision, where an assessment was made against $35,988 as income. The appellants will contend that the sum should be considered as repayment of principal, under the terms of the agreement whereby the City of Victoria bought out the Esquimalt Waterworks Company holdings in the Goldstream area. Leave to withdraw and re-enter the appeal was granted without demur to-day.

The Crown is respondent in two appeals before the Appeal Court this morning, in Rex versus Victor David, and Rex versus Roy Lindley. Victor David was sentenced by Mr. Justice Gregory to two years with hard labor and a whipping, after an assize jury had returned a verdict of guilty on a charge of assaulting a young woman.

In the case of Roy Lindley the jury returned a verdict of guilty, with a recommendation to mercy, on a similar charge, and a sentence of one year with hard labor was imposed by the trial judge. Both the accused are appealing the conviction and sentence.

W. J. Baird appears for the Crown, and J. E. Bird for the appellants. The appeals are being brought separately. (Concluded on Page 15)

STORM BOTHERS P.N.W. GOLFERS

Wind Blows Leaves and Twigs Over Course; Favorites Come Through

Seattle, June 18.—A terrific wind which was blowing limbs off trees and filling the air with leaves and twigs played havoc with the thirty-two contestants in the first round of match play to-day for the annual tournament of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association.

The greens were covered with leaves and twigs, making putting difficult. Favorites were coming through true to form, with the exception of Chandler Egan of Medford, Ore., who was two down to Dr. J. Johnson of Seattle, at the ninth hole.

Bon Stein of Seattle, low medalist yesterday, was three up on John Shields of Seattle at the quarter way mark of to-day's round.

Frank Dolp and Russ Smith, both of Portland, won their matches by default when their opponents failed to show up. Archie Stuart of Seattle was to have played Smith while Roy Campbell of Seattle had been paired with Dolp.

At the nine-hole mark, L. Nordstrom of Seattle was three up on Harry Givan of Seattle; Bob White of Spokane was four up on Bert Kellam of Seattle; Lee Stell of Seattle was five up on C. W. Cornell, and Eddie Hoggan of Portland, and Dixie Fleeger of Seattle were all square.

MacDONALD ASKS NATIONS TO JOIN NEW PEACE MOVE

He and Ambassador Dawes Make Declarations on British-U.S. Negotiations

London, June 18.—Premier MacDonald, speaking from his retreat at Lisslemonth, Scotland, and United States Ambassador Dawes, David, were sent by Mr. Justice Gregory to two years with hard labor and a whipping, after an assize jury had returned a verdict of guilty on a charge of assaulting a young woman.

U.S. BOAT MEN DENY INVADING CANADA WATERS

Say Shells Fired on U.S. Section of Detroit River Were Blanks

Windsor, Ont., June 18.—The United States coastguard cutter No. 236 fired blank one-pound shells at a gasoline craft suspected of being a rum runner, in the United States section of the Detroit River off Sandwich, but did not use a machine gun, the Canadian Press was told to-day by Arthur Gobel, commander of the United States craft.

Gobel, questioned at the Trenton, Mich., headquarters of the coastguard patrol, admitted firing on a speedboat occupied by Carl Raymond of Monroe, Mich., and James O'Connor, who, in a protest to the Sandwich police charged the gunboat had opened fire on them with a machine gun, shattering the windshield of their cruiser.

Gobel insisted the chase and capture had been carried out within United States water. Raymond and O'Connor in their protest to the Sandwich police, admitted they could not be definite on that score.

Gobel said it would be "unreasonable" for his crew to use live shells when firing towards Canadian waters.

Planes Used To Give Aid After Quake

Wellington, N.Z., June 18.—Further earth shocks were felt last night and to-day, adding to damage wrought by Sunday's tremors. The sixth fatality was reported following the death of a man in a mine at Seddonville.

Government aeroplanes have been sent to Westport and Greymouth, which both are practically isolated through damage to telegraph wires.

Railways are badly crippled, with the roads from Glen Hope to Owen completely covered with earth and boulders.

An aeroplane search is being made up for a public bus containing five passengers which has not been reported since the quake.

Otherwise the scale is much the same as last year.

For sockeye there is an increase from 50 cents to 57½ cents, and for pinkies an increase from 3 to 3½ cents.

The schedule for 1929 is as follows: Sockeye—Independent 57½ cents each; cannery gear, 36 cents each.

Red springs—Independent 8½ cents per pound; cannery gear, 5 cents per pound caught up spring nets; or 35 cents and 60 cents each, respectively, when caught in sockeye nets.

Cohoos and steelheads—Independent 30 cents each; cannery gear 18 cents.

Pinks 5 cents and 3 cents, chums 6 cents and 3½ cents, white springs 15 cents and 10 cents each.

Some 4,000 fishermen along the coast are affected by the price agreement.

RUM GUARDS OF U.S. ARE INCREASED

Shootings Result in More Men Being Sent to Menaced Border Points

Brigades of Liquor Runners Along Canada-U.S. Line Are Growing, Says Washington

Washington, June 18.—President Hoover to-day called upon the communities along the Canadian border to help the Treasury Department prevent the systematic war being waged by international criminals against the laws of this country.

The President said he deeply deplored the killing any person, but the Treasury officials were making a constant effort to prevent misuse of firearms.

Washington, June 18.—Additional forces to combat rum smuggling have been rushed by the United States Treasury Department to the Canadian border where in recent weeks guns have barked and lives have been taken in efforts to enforce the prohibition law.

Confidential reports to Washington were said to-day by Assistant Secretary Lowman to have disclosed an unprecedented mobilization of smugglers in that area and he declared the Treasury had shifted its men to meet the situation.

This development to-day was the latest in a series of events which have focused attention on prohibition enforcement and aroused in Congress to a denunciation of the activities of federal agents in enforcement of the statute.

RAINFALL PAYS BERRY PICKERS

Larger Daily Earnings For Longer Season Follow Showers, Tanner Says

First Saanich Berries Arrive at Winnipeg in Prime Condition

Strawberry pickers in Saanich and Gordon Head will make greatly increased earnings each day and enjoy a much longer period of employment, as a result of the recent rains, H. E. Tanner, manager of the Saanich Fruitgrowers' Association, this morning stated.

"The season will be notable this year because of the favorable weather conditions," he said. "Earlier in the year we looked for a short season, with a hurried campaign to harvest the crop. The late spring delayed flowering and the recent rains have again aided in the harvesting. As a result the market is bare of competing United States berries as our fruit arrives for distribution."

FIRST TO WINNIEPEG

"The first car shipped arrived in Winnipeg this morning and is reported to have been in prime condition. The fruit was not as uniform as that shipped in later cars, so we may look for great success in this year's shipment," Mr. Tanner said. The sixth car left for the prairies to-day and another will go east to-morrow.

With the impending closing of the High School, a great addition to the picking staff is expected by the growers. The cool weather has deferred ripening sufficiently to make this help timely, and the rain will greatly increase the size of the berries, making picking profitable.

KAMLOOPS FARM HEAD DISMISSED

D. W. Strachan Built Up One of Finest Herds in Province at Sanitarium

A cheque for a month's salary and notice to quit is the reward that has been handed out by the Provincial Government to D. W. Strachan, farm superintendent at Kamloops Sanitarium since its inception by the T.B. Society of British Columbia.

The news comes as a surprise to all familiar with the excellent work of Mr. Strachan on the Kamloops farm and to his many friends in Kamloops and other parts of British Columbia. He was virtually the founder of the farm under the T.B. Society. He started with a scrub herd of cattle and sheep and other animals which when the Provincial Government took over the farm, he developed one of the finest herds in the Dominion which to-day holds many records in Canada.

Although active in local affairs for the benefit of the community Mr. Strachan took no part in politics. He was one of a number of citizens who financed the starting of a Kamloops cannery and is regarded as a sound business man. No charge of politics was ever made against him in connection with purchases of supplies or in any way in connection with the operation of the farm, and the reasons for his dismissal are as vague as in the case of many others who have been caught in the swing of the Government axe.

SHIFTING WIND CAUSING BREAK FOR FINE DAYS

Weather Man Raises Hopes By Predicting an Improvement Before Long

Abnormally Low Barometer Over Pacific Slope Brings Moisture

With all Victoria living in anticipation of the summer camping season the weather has broken faith by going into a tail-spin with every indication of dashing out hopes to the ground.

A squally wind blowing east and southeast this morning converted a promising day into an unpleasant prospect.

A chilling rain added a touch of vindictiveness by conversion to sleet and hail and householders began to stoke-up with the conviction that Victoria's summer was too fickle to take any chances with.

HOPES RAISED

But the outlook of the weather man gives rise to hope. An abnormally low barometer all over the Pacific slope is responsible for the vagaries of the weather, according to Napier Denison, superintendent of the meteorological observatory on Gonzales Heights.

Bandit in Vancouver Surprises Clerks and Manager as They Arrive for Work; Large Sum of Money Found on Youth Arrested This Afternoon in New Westminster.

"PHANTOM" AND LAUNCH ARE HUNTED

Guards Along B.C. Coast and in Puget Sound Join Vancouver Search

Vancouver, June 18.—Search for Lloyd E. Sampsell, sought on a warrant here in connection with the operations of the "Phantom Bandit" and in Los Angeles on a warrant charging him with bank robbery, has extended to up-coast points and Puget Sound, following failure of city authorities to find any trace of a gasboat, aboard which he was living, in Burrard Inlet or False Creek.

That Sampsell was on the forty-five foot cruiser that lay for a time at the Hoffer-Beeching yards was definitely established when a city barrister retained by the man was located. He admitted Sampsell's identity and said he had done business for him in connection with the cruiser, but at that time was absolutely unaware the man was wanted here or in Los Angeles.

The lawyer declared it was impossible for Sampsell to have staged the Vancouver robberies, as papers in the man's possession would indicate he was far away from Vancouver at the time most of the robberies were committed.

HAD MONEY

Sampsell is reported to have had plenty of money while here and is said to have entertained lavishly.

Last night W. J. Whitman, boat broker, reported to the police that some time prior to May 24 the man Sampsell, whose picture he identified, had negotiated with him for a gasboat. Not finding the craft he desired, he left for Seattle and wired from there for another picture to be sent him.

Mr. Whitman said Sampsell was accompanied by a man, who gave him the name as McNab, and also by a woman, at the time he sought a boat.

Seattle and other Puget Sound police are taking a hand in the search for Sampsell, who is believed to be on the coastguard and customs craft to endeavor to pick up the boat which is believed to be carrying him.

There is no richer treasure in all the world than good health. Of this there can be no question, for what can be accomplished or what treasures can be enjoyed when this most important factor is missing? Rich as this prize is, it belongs to you and every one of us. It is given to us, and whether we keep and enjoy it is a matter which depends upon us entirely.

The manner in which the average person takes care of his health today is almost tragic. Little or no effort is made to guard and protect it. Everything is taken in a matter of fact way and abuse after abuse is heaped upon the human system. The same person who selects the gas and oil for the automobile with great care, and who is very particular as to what kind of coal is used in the furnace, is not one-half as careful when it comes to "fueling" the human system and keeping it in the proper working condition, and the body is most certainly the finest machine in the world.

"I am the fellow you will all know and learn to have great confidence in.
I'm that guy."

"KEENO"

Be Considerate!

Each and every one of us have a most important duty to perform as regards the care of our health. We must be considerate to the human system, lending every possible co-operation and giving the important organs of the body the proper care, so that they will continue to perform their duties in a normal and healthy manner. Failure to do this can lead to turn means misery and suffering.

Danger Signals!

Negligence in the care of our health soon becomes apparent. Nature then sends her danger signals in the form of minor ailments. These appear and should serve as a warning to us to arouse our interest and face the oncoming enemy to health. Ridiculous as it may seem, 75% of these warnings go unheeded by many for months and by others for years. The poor, over-worked system is left to fight off unaided this sickness which is rooting itself into the body so that it might soon sprout out with all its misery, sap our vitality and utterly destroy our health.

It Is Up to You!

Everyone owes it to himself to watch carefully and at the first sign of affected health to take positive action. The time to overcome any disorder is immediately as soon as it shows itself. It is important that we realize that the many common ailments, from which most of us suffer from time to time are but the forerunners to really serious sickness. It is up to us to check them before they can become serious.

If You Are Healthy!

The person feeling normally well will find a few bottles of "KEENO" the efficient and dependable medicine that will provide an even better feeling of health, strength and contentment. "KEENO" will cause you to have that extra spring to the step and teach you what it means to have that 100% "peppy" satisfied feeling. This medicine will thoroughly cleanse and stimulate the entire system, purify the blood and give you the power required to resist the many forms of sickness which are ever ready to invade the body. A person fortunate enough to be enjoying good health should be careful enough to protect it.

If You Are Sick

The unfortunate person afflicted with liver, stomach, bowel or kidney trouble and any of the many common complaints which are symptoms thereof, should under no circumstances delay a single day in taking effective steps to eliminate his trouble. To do this you could not possibly find anything better than "KEENO." This most efficient medicine will get to the root of the ailments quickly and soon you will be enjoying good health again. ## SWING OF BEEF PRICES STUDIED

Washington, June 18.—Although relatively high beef prices are world wide, the Department of Agriculture warns the producers in the United States that cattle prices are likely to decline and that a downward trend undoubtedly will take place eventually.

The first of these price cycles started somewhat before 1900 and lasted around 1891, the second started around 1901 and ended about 1906, and the third started around 1906 and ended about 1923.

The cattle industry now appears to be at the low point of the production cycle. Prices reached high levels in 1927 and 1928.

Price cycles and production cycles are correlated in inverse movements. Declining production is associated with rising prices, and vice versa.

Since 1918 a steady decline in the number of cattle on farms has taken place, and the number in 1928 was about the lowest since the year 1912, in which year the production cycle passed its low point from the standpoint of the number of cattle on farms.

As the cattle industry in the United States appears to be passing the bottom of a production cycle, it possibly is approaching the peak of a price cycle.

This means that as prices rise through the effect of a series of years of shortage in supplies of cattle, breeding animals are withheld from the market to build up breeding herds, and there is a temporary additional contraction of beef supplies.

There has been a tendency toward smaller total inspected slaughter this year, with steer slaughter larger than a year ago, and slaughter of other cattle considerably less. If past performances be a criterion, it is probable prices will go down in the next few years as a result of the apparent attempts to produce more beef cattle.

The United States imported fewer cattle but more beef during the first quarter of 1929 than in the corresponding period last year, and the prospects are that New Zealand, Canada and Argentina will continue to ship beef into this country.

New Zealand now leads Canada as a source of United States fresh frozen beef and veal imports, while Argentina is sending larger quantities of canned beef. Canada is the leading source of live cattle, principally steers and feeders, and Mexico is sending a relatively small number.

Against His Will

"Does you take this woman for thy lawfully wedded wife?" asked the colored parson, glancing at the diminutive, watery-eyed, bowlegged, shaggy, who stood beside 210 pounds of feminine assurance.

"Ah takes nothin'" responded the bridegroom, gloomily. "Ah's being tooked."

CELEBRATION FUNDS NEEDED

July 1 Committee of Sons of Canada Arranges Tentative Programme For Holiday

Conditional upon their ability to raise approximately $600, the Sons of Canada will stage a patriotic and athletic programme on June 30 and July 1, it was decided at a special meeting of the celebration committee of the association in the Y.M.C.A. last night.

A musical programme under the direction of the Musical Festival Committee was tentatively arranged for the Sunday, June 30, in the Arena.

A baseball game between the Vancouver Japanese team and a local squad will be arranged for Monday.

LACROSSE GAME

The sports committee, under the chairmanship of Charley Fes, will endeavor to put on a lacrosse match in the afternoon, between a local team and some outside squad as well as bicycle races for local boys.

Another baseball game between the Japanese and a local nine was scheduled to bring to a close the sports in the evening.

The estimated expenditure to promote this programme was $390.

As a closing event, the suggestion was made that community singing should be held in front of the Parliament Building. At this function, plans were made to secure the services of a competent conductor and a number of members from the city's leading choirs to lead the singing.

NEED FUNDS

Since all items on the programme depended upon what finances could be raised for the celebration, the executive last night advised the finance committee to approach the Junior Chamber of Commerce to request a grant from the surplus of the May 24 celebration proceeds.

This committee will approach the Junior Chamber at its meeting to-night and will report back to the executive at its meeting in the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow evening.

Although no definite action was taken last night, it was the general opinion of the meeting that the Sons of Canada should sponsor the musical part of the programme in the Arena on June 30.

Permit For Big New Hotel In Vancouver

Vancouver, June 18.—Construction of the proposed Canadian National Railway Hotel here, the British Columbia, was authorized by the city building department yesterday.

A provisional permit involving a cost of $3,500,000 was issued for construction of the sixteen-story structure on Georgia Street, between Hornby and Burrard. This permit is subject to change, in respect of total expenditure, within the next twelve months.

The building will be of reinforced concrete construction, and the contractor is the E. J. Ryan Contracting Company Limited. The architect is John Schofield of Montreal. The owner of the hotel is shown on the permit as the Canadian National Railways Limited.

New Commission Plan For Tariff

Toronto, June 18.—Tariff difficulties between Canada and the United States should be talked out of politics and could be removed only by an independent commission composed of tariff experts, said M. H. Cahill, president of the New York State Bankers' Association here. That, he stated, was the opinion held by United States bankers.

Thrift and the News

Thrift does not mean doing without things you want, but it helps to eliminate things you do not need and do not really want. It is not thrifty to be mean and stingy; far more thrifty is it to pay well, but to demand full value. Let us see how this newspaper can help you to be thrifty and have what you wish for.

The completeness with which the newspaper is the great, common market place of its area is not so apparent to as many people as it should be. It brings to us a knowledge of available goods and services. On fair days and fairs it comes to you and to me in the dress of "news"—news of what to buy and where and when, and what is to be the just price.

"News"—news of the home, news of the shops—"is the sound of civilization's machinery in motion." It is the speed gauge of progress; it is the back-ground for all thinking, all planning and all knowledge of human affairs. News comes from the social, educational, scientific and economic aspects of our daily life, but it also has another aspect—that of the great storehouse of vital information we call "advertising," of which I shall write again next week.

FORD CAR HOUDAILLE HYDRAULIC SHOCK ABSORBERS

Positive—Smooth—Double Acting—

HOUДАILLE Hydraulic Shock Absorbers, four to every Ford car, are entirely defensive in their action since they remain inactive and in neutral position on smooth roads. Let a wheel encounter the slightest depression or bump, however, and they respond with the velvet precision of a cat's paw.

Houdaille Shock Absorbers were not adapted to the Ford car after it was built, but were part of the specifications laid down by the Ford engineers as they planned the car. Therefore, Houdailles, their powerful operation coordinated, became integral parts of the complete chassis. It is for this reason that they function with such perfect efficiency on the Ford car.

Houdailles absorb both the upward and downward thrust of the shock through slowing the spring action by means of a heavy glycerine solution, which is forced through a small valve from one compartment to another. They check the rebound of the car softly, exert no tension on the springs and are always ready to offer resistance to the blow when and as required. In fact, the more severe the shock, the more effectively Houdailles operate.

Different from any other shock absorber, the Houdaille connecting link between the frame and the axle of the car is a steel arm, not just a fabric strip to wear out and be replaced. Adjustable to suit differing road conditions and various loads, the Houdaille is more than a shock absorber and more than a snubber.

Inspect the Ford car carefully part by part. Then know the thrill of driving it. By its performance you will realize the easy riding comfort of an Houdaille equipped Ford.

CRASH OF PLANE IN SEA TOLD OF BY SURVIVOR

Six Rescued in English Channel Saw Seven Lose Their Lives

Folkestone, Eng., June 18.—Homer W. Tatham, a United States passenger aboard the City of Ottawa, the Imperial Airways plane which crashed in the English Channel yesterday with a loss of seven lives, described the disaster while he was at the Royal Victoria Hospital here last night with a slight injury to one of his arms.

"Half of what happened I cannot tell you," he said. "No one can. In such a crisis the brain ceases to function. But this is what I can remember."

"All was going well when one of the engines began to go wrong and we turned back for England."

"Am trying to come down near a ship," was the message given us from the pilot, 'so there is no need for you to be alarmed. All will be well.'"

BROKE THROUGH FUSELAGE

"But when we landed we knew all was not well. We hit the water with a terrific bang. All of us, men and women, were shot forward on the floor. How the machine stood up, Heaven knows. Whether it was right side up or upside down I could not say, but even in the melee I heard an attendant telling us all of us would be got out. We could hear the sea lapping the machine."

"All exits from the plane were stopped and, escaping from the mass on the floor, I kicked a hole in what I took to be the side or top—I don't know which. Through that I scrambled out as best I could. Just behind me was a girl. I pulled her out. Another man followed and he and I together pulled his wife through the hole. But even then it was not easy. We couldn't stay around the opening, but had to clamber away as best we could to those parts of the plane which were above water."

"Then we took stock of the position. There were Miss Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming, the pilot, the mechanic and myself. After that no one else appeared."

"We waited and still no one came and then we went down to investigate. Inside were six or seven more passengers. Water was getting into the plane. The heavy baggage we were carrying had been hurried forward on to them and buried them. They were jammed in beneath and wedged tight and despite our efforts nothing we could do would release them. They were drowned or crushed to death while we looked on. It was the most terrible experience of my life."

A list given out at Folkestone stated those rescued were Mr. and Mrs. Fleming, relatives of Mrs. Icker-son, who lost her life; Miss M. Smith, daughter of Alfred Smith; H. W. Tatham, of the United States; Captain R. J. Brailly, pilot, and M. Barnett, flight engineer.

The first great London bridge had wooden stores and houses on it. It was built near the end of the twelfth century.

AUSTRIA STATED TO BE SECRETLY ARMING AGAIN

Board of Investigation Reports Discoveries to Council of League

Possible to Build Army of 200,000 to 300,000 From Associations Formed

Geneva, June 18.—Charges that Austria is secretly arming in defiance of the terms of the peace treaty were contained in the final report of the liquidation board in connection with the removal of the military control from that country. The report was annexed to a declaration from the president of the Ambassadors' Conference to the Council of the League of Nations that the board should now be dissolved.

The three delegates, British, French and Italian, who formed the board expressed conviction Austria had kept war materials hidden during the investigations of the board, and that they could be used to arm the many associations existing in that country.

They called attention to the danger that the new reduced army might be converted into a cadre, a skeleton army, which by enrollment of young men trained in these associations could, if desired, create an army of from 200,000 to 300,000 men.

MANY GROUPS FORMED

They asserted the cadre character of the army was continually developing, and that associations had been developed to an alarming extent during the last few months.

Secret co-operation between the German and Austrian army headquarters also was alleged. This was said to have resulted in establishment of liaison by exchange of officers, adoption by the Austrian army of a uniform order on the German model, a scheme for redrafting Austrian and German army regulations, of which official mention had already been received, and a desire at Vienna to re-establish a general staff on the German model.

Reference also was made to "big clandestine traffic in arms, Vienna being the most active commercial centre."

FACTORY SUPERVISION

Special supervision was recommended over seven specific factories of which report said it would appear from information received that they already had obtained extra machinery and were "simply waiting for the departure of the board to begin war manufactures."

CONTRACTORS ARE CLOSING UP EAST END OF CATHEDRAL

Interior of Edifice Being Made Ready For Furnishings From Old Church

Carpenters have commenced the work of closing in the temporary east end of the new Christ Church Cathedral. A wall is being erected three feet beyond the western piers of the great central tower. It will be carried to the full height of the nave in the central portion of the structure, and to the height of the aisles on the north and south aisles. Spaces will be left in the wall for a number of the windows from the old cathedral, including three from the sanctuary and others from the north and south aisles. At the eastern end of the south aisle, a vestry for the choir boys and for use as a practice room, is being constructed.

The two eastern bays of the nave will be used for the sanctuary and choir in the new building, the pulpit standing against the second pillar on the north side. The position of the new organ will be in the east bay of the south aisle, on a gallery twelve feet six inches above the floor. The space under this will be used as a choirman's vestry, and to the eastward will be the clergy vestry.

The altar and reredos, and other furniture from the present cathedral sanctuary and choir, will occupy the eastern end of the north aisle in the new building, for use at services when it is not necessary to use the larger nave and choir.

MORE GIFTS RECEIVED

Subscriptions are coming in regularly to the Memorial Hall in response to the Bishop's appeal for the sum of $40,000, exclusive of $8,000 required for the furnishing fund to complete the building free of debt. Besides a number of smaller gifts was another contribution of $1,000. One gift was applied at the donor's request to the cost of the stonework and stained glass of a window in the west front. This leaves only one window out of the seven available for selection as a memorial or thankoffering gift.

LAVOISIER, one of the founders of modern chemistry, developed the use of gunpowder not merely as a weapon of war but as an aid to the farmer, the miner and the pioneer.

Inspired by him, an ancestor of the present duPont family laid in the New World the foundation of an industry which has played a great part in its development. Later came Alfred Nobel who invented dynamite, which to-day is used widely in the mines, on the farms and for building railroads all over the world.

Without explosives, and particularly dynamite, much of the buried treasures of Canada would remain earth's secret. She would have few railroads while many of her fields now cultivated would be still barren wastes. Explosives have served to place Canada's resources within the reach of the world's markets.

CHURCH AND STATE IN ITALY

WHAT PREMIER MUSSOLINI thought of the Pope's letter to Cardinal Gasparri, in which His Holiness referred to the dictator's public utterances as "heretical and worse than heretical," we probably never shall know. What already is clear, however, is the fact that the head of the Government has made no public reply.

Students of the history of Fascism and of Signor Mussolini's career will not be greatly surprised at the demonstration that the Pope and the Fascist chieftain are not of one mind. They may not have expected the fundamental disagreement to become overt so suddenly and so publicly, but there has never been any doubt that a genuine understanding between Fascism and the Catholic Church was impossible. As The New York World reminds us, however, Fascism is the most extreme form of nationalism which the world has yet seen; its idealism consists in a worship of the state and an exaltation of the secular power. Between it and the traditions of the Catholic Church there can be no real understanding. There can be at most only a practical working compromise.

It is true that in the Fascist Party there is an element which shares the views of the church. But Signor Mussolini does not by conviction belong to that element. Before he became a Fascist, our contemporary points out, he was a bitter and outspoken enemy of the Catholic Church. In the first years of his leadership of Fascism he remained a bitter and outspoken enemy of the church. As late as April 3, 1921, for instance, he delivered himself of this:

Fascism is the strongest of all the heresies that strike at the doors of the churches. Tell the priests, who are more or less whimpering old maids: Away with these temples that are doomed to destruction; for our triumphant heresy is destined to illuminate all brains and hearts. Make way for the youth of Italy, whose faith and passion are demanding expression.

Eight months afterwards he had changed his policy and declared "it is necessary to have a dogma for social life: the dogma, namely, that unity and power lay in Rome, in the church there is the Catholic God, and in the modern state there is the Patria." It is hardly conceivable that this change of policy represented a change of heart. In fact, there is every reason for thinking that Signor Mussolini suddenly decided to favor the church, which he had previously insulted, because he found it politically expedient to do so. He wanted the support of the Nationalists and of the popular party. He wanted the support of the parish clergy. He wanted moral recognition from the Holy See for his revolutionary regime. He wanted the prestige of the church's goodwill in his foreign policy.

But there was never any reason to suppose that there was any higher loyalty in his "conciliation" with the Vatican than expediency required. When he discovered that a very considerable section of his Fascist followers were as anti-clerical as they had always been, he took the extraordinary course of casting public aspersions upon certain of the most cherished dogmas of the church on the cynical calculation that having signed the treaty and got what he could out of it he could safely turn around and prove to the anti-clerical Fascists that he, Mussolini, was still anti-clerical in spirit. Thus the church finds itself in the position of having to work an arrangement based on the premise of a common understanding, though no common understanding exists.

It thus will be apparent that the outcome verifies the prophecies of those who said that when the Pope entered into an arrangement with Fascism there was reestablished for the first time since the suppression of all Signor Mussolini's political opponents a formidable opposition within the Italian state. For the first time in years, the New York journal concludes, there are two parties in Italy with avowedly different aims. It is not unlikely that the phase of simple dictatorship is over and that this public debate between Pope and Prime Minister is the beginning of a new alignment in Italian politics.

MR BENNETT'S WORN-OUT TEXT

ON HIS WAY ACROSS THE COUNTRY

Hon. R. B. Bennett is pausing to make a few speeches and to tell the people of Canada once more that conditions in this land are very bad indeed, that our people continue to cross the border into the United States in droves, and that things never will be better until a Conservative Government takes the reins of office at Ottawa and imposes a high tariff on everything we import.

It is about time Mr. Bennett took a different text for his public utterances. His is almost the only voice that is pitched in the calamity key. Our bank presidents, railway executives, captains of industry, and students of economics assure us that Canada is doing very nicely indeed. Surely they ought to know. We are willing to take the word of a banker in the matter of a country's commercial position. He has no political axe to grind and is rarely moved by sentimental impulses.

Even such a stalwart journalistic supporter of the party which Mr. Bennett leads as The Montreal Star apparently is far from enthusiastic about conditions in the United States—the land which always is flowing with milk and honey, because of its high tariffs, according to the Opposition leader—for it reminds us that there are more than 5,000,000 out of work in the republic at the present time. It refers to this fact in its comparison of conditions on the South of the border with those obtaining in Great Britain. It notes that in the Old Country, with a population of something like 45,000,000, there were, on May 27, 1,132,000 persons idle, while in the United States, with a population of approximately 115,000,000, the idle roll, as already mentioned, accounted for 5,000,000—a higher ratio of unemployment than Great Britain's.

In Canada, of course, in spite of Mr. Bennett's calamity howl, there is scarcely any unemployment at all. But it would never do for the Conservative leader to let it be known that he had as much as hinted that Canada is enjoying abounding prosperity. He has told his story, and obviously intends to stick to it.

MORE ELECTRICAL MARVELS

SPEAKING THE WORDS "GO AHEAD" into a radio microphone on his office desk in New York last night, Mr. James A. Farrell, Steel Corporation president, automatically started a miniature electric train 320 miles away in Pittsburgh. It was one of the features of the convention of electrical engineers now in session there. The order was broadcast over a radio station in the usual manner and picked up at the Pittsburgh end on an ordinary radio receiver. The train automatically stopped at the command "stop" came from the loud speaker of the radio receiving set. It also obeyed the distant command to "back up."

The audible commands are carried through a radio detector tube to a special selector which determines the polarity in the track and upon this polarity is dependent the direction in which the locomotive moves. The selector is attuned to respond to the various sound vibrations, or impulses, which are the spoken orders.

Robot machines in demonstrations in various parts of the world have been obeying their masters' voices for some time. The novelty in last night's exhibition lies in the feature of remote control, through enlisting the facilities of voice transmission by radio.

As a result of this development, the late-rising householder from a telephone at his bedside may soon command the furnace to open. The woman at an afternoon tea may send word home to her stove to start cooking the supper so that it will be ready by the time she arrives. Elevators, doors and lights may be vocally controlled, provided, of course, that the correct verbal formula is always used.

TARIFF ABSURDITIES

SOME OF THE ABSURD EXTREMES to which Washington politicians are going in their present tariff-boasting orgy furnish material to students of what might be called tariff psychology.

One of the new imports most difficult to explain is the duty on hardwood logs imported from tropical forests. As, admittedly, no tropical hardwood is grown in the United States, the assumption outside of Washington at least must be that in placing a tariff on lumber which is competing with the soft wood producers of the country, Senators decided they may as well go the whole way and include everything that comes under the term "wood," without distinction. Now, all the industries using tropical woods, such as the manufacturers of high grade furniture and instruments, find that Washington has jacked up the cost of their raw material, and are asking why.

As the raw material in this instance cannot be produced in the country, one is at a loss to explain what this could be "protected." None would argue that this tax could stimulate the growing of a single tropical hardwood tree in the United States. But this case is typical of many of the absurdities perpetrated when a mania for tariff-boasting breaks out among politicians.

WHOSE TUNE IS IT?

The Montreal Star

There is ground for diverting speculation in the spectacle of Big Bill Thompson, the bellicose mayor of Chicago, standing on a rostrum draped with the British flag while the visiting youth of Australia played "God Save the King." The fighting champion of "America First" is understood to have thought he was listening to the strains of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." As a matter of fact, he was. You can take it either way. For the British National Anthem and the American National Anthem are sung to the same tune, although the president's official band always plays "The Star-Spangled Banner" on official occasions.

Now the tune of "God Save the King" is of German origin. It is the tune to which the German National Anthem, "Heil dir im Siegerkranz" is sung. It also serves the Swiss as the tune to which they sing their national anthem, "Rufst du mein Vaterland," and in addition to this it is used by the Danes when they desire to chant their national song, "Heil dir, dem Liebenden." It will thus be seen that there is a sort of community of interests in the tune of "God Save the King," to say nothing of its profane use in old students' song-books.

Big Bill has a good case. But if he were to begin to argue about the tune of "The Star-Spangled Banner" he would not be in so good a case, for the tune of that song was formerly a popular English drinking air. Fortunately, there is no resemblance whatever between the two tunes, so the Australians were right in thinking they were playing "God Save the King." Bill was right in thinking they were playing "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," and if there were any Danes or Germans or Swiss in the aldermanic entourage surrounding Big Bill, they also might have taken flattering unctious to their souls that they were being complimented in particular by the visitors from the Antipodes. So everybody ought to have been well content—and there's no hard feelings between us.

A THOUGHT

Moreover the profit of the earth is for all; the king himself is served by the field.—Ecc. v. 9.
Creation's heir, the world; the world, is mine.—Goldsmith.

Loose Ends

Mr. Gill has his own ideas about liquor—Habit is to be had on Mexican tops—for the color is going out of the old-time bar-room—but Mr. Hearst has plans for putting some into liquor. If she will wear arms in war-time—and Fascism orders a straw hat.

By H. B. W.

AFTER WATCHING his northern neighbor in the United States and Canada attempting to solve their liquor problems by many and various devices, testototaling President Emilio Portes Gil, of Mexico, has devised a scheme all of his own to make Mexicans give up liquor in despair. Instead of forbidding them to drink it, he proposes instead to make it too much trouble to be worth their while. A law now being drafted, it is reported, will allow liquor to be served only in premises where the bars are five feet high, so that no one but a man of extraordinary height will be able to lean his elbows upon them. Ordinary men will have to reach up for their drinks as from a mantel shelf, and the President evidently thinks they will soon tire of that. Besides, there will be no tables or chairs for leisurely drinking, and when a man cannot stand up any longer and reach for a flagon instead of a sweet, he will just have to go home.

NOR WILL any free lunch counters be provided for those who would like to remain all day, while bar-room art, the pictures of harem ladies and such things which used to make bar-rooms all over America so attractive to people of sensitive tastes, will be abolished entirely. Those who drink will have to look on bare, white-washed walls, and this is counted upon to drive the artistic people of Mexico out of drinking resorts. And as a final drastic measure of discouragement, Mr. Gil proposes to abolish swing doors so that all patrons may see who is reaching up for a bubbling glass.

IF HE wants to drink at all the Mexican gentleman thus will have to do it in a place about as interesting as the business-like liquor stores of the British Columbia Government, where there is no more excitement in the act of purchasing liquor than postage stamps, and from which most experienced customers emerge with no sense of romance nor sin, and the purchase hardly seems worth while. The Mexican saloons will probably resemble even more closely the unique British Columbia beer parlors, where everyone behaves as if he were at a funeral.

FURTHER NORTH, Mr. Hearst, who publishes newspapers and attacks prohibition, has evolved a scheme for handling the United States' liquor problem, which is quite a formidable job. Mr. Hearst recently offered $25,000 as prize for the best plan for modifying the prohibition law. Franklin Chase Hoyt, a New York jurist, won the money by a solution so simple that you wonder no one ever thought of it before. Mr. Hoyt proposes that liquor manufactured by "an act of man" shall be prohibited, but that manufactured by "an act of God" shall be legalized. All hard stuff, being distilled, as an "act of man" (sometimes in the United States it is said to be an act of brutality as well), while wine, being fermented through the course of nature, is an "act of God," like a cyclone or an earthquake, which it occasionally resembles in other ways.

SO LOGICAL did this scheme appear to a group of judges appointed by Mr. Hearst that they selected it from among 17,248 proposals submitted to them. Whether Congress adopts it or not, this notable discovery will be given a new dignity to the great indoor sport of home brewing by providing it with a supernatural authority to which home brewers had hardly aspired. Countless "acts of God" are said to proceed in the basements of America, but most of them don't taste like it.

WHILE PRESIDENT Hoover is making strenuous efforts towards disarmament and world peace, the highest court of his country has just handed down a ruling aggravating to peace advocates and interesting to the rest of the world. In effect, the United States Supreme Court decided that before a foreign-born woman can become a citizen of the Republic she must promise to bear arms in its defense, if the need arises, even if she doesn't even know one end of a gun from the other. This ruling was handed down in the case of Mme. Schwimmer, internationally known pacifist, whose eloquence induced Mr. Ford to undertake his famous Peace Ship trip in 1915. Mme. Schwimmer, after a somewhat notable career in Europe, settled in Illinois two years ago and applied for citizenship papers. When Mme. Schwimmer, fifty-two years old, was asked if she would bear arms in defence of the United States, she replied: "Not personally. I understand women are not required to bear arms in the United States."

THIS started the trouble. An Illinois court refused to grant Mme. Schwimmer citizenship. She appealed to the Supreme Court, where five-to-three in supporting the verdict of the lower tribunal, and described her as "an uncompromising pacifist with no sense of nationalism, but only a cosmic sense of belonging to the human family." Mr. Justice Holmes, in a minority judgment, denounced the refusal to grant citizenship because an applicant did not believe in war. He said it was on a par with rejecting an applicant because she did not believe in Prohibition. "If there is any principle of the Constitution, that more imperatively calls for attachment than any other, it is the principle of free thought," said Mr. Justice Holmes. "Not free thought for those who agree with us but free freedom for the thought that we hate."

ANYWAY, Mme. Schwimmer was left without a country as she had renounced her native Switzerland and ten Europeans and forty-one natives were seriously injured in rioting in the Asiatic quarter of this city yesterday. The trouble grew out of a dispute in a native eating house.

KIRK'S WELLINGTON COAL

"Does Last Longer"

sophic opinions with respect to the lawfulness of war." In introducing this measure Congressman A. J. Griffin, of New York, remarked that he could not see why a person should be barred from citizenship for holding the opinions of men like Senator Borah, and of all the signatories of the Kellogg Pact, about the lawfulness of war. And Mme. Schwimmer, a citizen of no country, remarked: "If I had invested a new gun or poison gas I would have been so welcome," but she had the satisfaction of seeing that her case had well and truly started something.

AFTER having ordered women of Italy to lengthen their skirts in the interests of modesty, the Fascist Government has now requested all men to wear straw hats this summer in the interests of the straw hat manufacturing industry. The indefatigable secretary-general of the Fascist Party, Mr. Turati, has taken personal charge of this crusade. Men are much more pliable and weak-minded about such things than women and are easily coerced into wearing anything. On this Continent they have been wearing virtually the same style of round, flat, hard and uncomfortable straw for half a century without a peep of protest.

THEY haven't done it either with any high patriotic purpose like helping the straw hat industry. They have done it because they hadn't the sense or spirit to do otherwise, while during the same period the more imaginative female of the species has evolved from the hoop skirt to the present almost entire lack of any, with the hobble skirt and countless other stages in between. There are signs in some of the weirder creations of the last year or two, however, that the age which gave us the apple green bath tub and the mauve waist basin, may also make men's hat manufacturers feel the urge of color and form.

Bills in the U.S.

Belong to the New Currency System

Washington, June 18.—The United States public will have to begin tapering off July 10 on the long established habit of breaking old fashioned bills and coins. The new variety, which are different in size, but represent the same amount of purchasing power. The new bills, six and five-sixteenths inches long and two and eleven-sixteenths inches wide, with black and white faces and green backs, will go into circulation on that date, as far as the popular $1 and $20 denominations are concerned. Those for higher amounts will be introduced later. The larger bills with which most folks are familiar will continue to be used until worn out, and for a time all orders for fresh paper currency will be filled by the Treasury with both varieties. Recognizing this may cause inconvenience, Treasury officials are hopeful the public will be patient until the supply of old type bills is exhausted and uniformity of currency again established.

A distinctive paper developed in the last few years, which has withstood more folding than the kind now in use, has been adopted for the new currency, together with striking new designs, making it easier for the average person to distinguish the denominations of the bills at a glance and to detect counterfeiters.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Daily Times, June 18, 1929

Sunday school picnics, a baseball game in the afternoon and excursions to Vancouver will be on the programme for the July 1 celebration. Members of the Victoria Yacht Club have practically decided on an international regatta which will take place in this city on July 4. Most of the visiting craft from the Sound, Vancouver and Nanaimo are expected to arrive here on July 1.

This afternoon the C.P.R. steamship Princess Victoria entered upon her triangular service, leaving Vancouver at 1 o'clock. She will arrive here at 5 and will leave for Seattle at 7. Returning, she sails from the Sound at midnight and will be ready to depart for Vancouver again at 7:30 o'clock to-morrow morning.

According to present calculations the year 1904 will be a permanent sidewalk on the city of Victoria.

The saving of Yates Street, from Government to Wharf Street, starts next Monday.

The Pacific Coast Steamship Company's Alaskan excursion steamer, Spokane, reached the outer wharf at 7 o'clock last night after her first pleasure run along the southeastern coast of Alaska.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity, fresh to strong westerly winds, mostly cloudy and cool, with showers.

STILL SEEK SUCCESSOR TO DR. PRICE

Bank of Montreal Offer For $100,000 Hospital Issue Is Accepted

Victoria West Manufacturers Ask Waterworks Improvements West of Harbor

In an extended session last night the City Council failed to agree on the choice of a medical health officer to succeed Dr. Arthur G. Price, and will ask that officer to continue in office a further month to permit of further time in the wise selection of a suitable successor for the post.

Dr. Price desired to be retired at July 1, but will be asked to remain until July 31. Four names were before the council in applications last night, but no decision was found possible. All applicants will be asked for further particulars and references.

Some criticism was voiced of the salary advertised for the post as commencing honorarium, when it was stated that $3,600 a year would not likely create great enthusiasm for the position. As against this, it was explained, the salary was a commencing one, with free office, nursing assistance, car allowance, and a wider field after demonstration of fitness for the post.

The position was too important to be filled in a haphazard manner, and further time and thought would be given to the matter, the council decided after an hour's debate had produced no further results.

The request of the Victoria West Brotherhood, in association with manufacturers on the industrial reserve, for relief by way of general extension of water supplies was referred to the city engineer for report. In brief, the petition seeks the linking of both main supply systems for accessibility to the Scotchmen Reserve, and in portions of Victoria West, by means of cross connections and otherwise. The council showed sympathy with the plan, but will ask technical advice as to feasibility and cost.

The council authorized the sale of a lot at the northwest corner of Summit Avenue and Jackson Streets to a local buyer for $1,000 on terms. Old premises at 1804 Douglas Street were ordered torn down.

AUDITORS NAMED

Messrs. Ismay, Bolton and Holden were appointed auditors of accounts for the City School Board for 1929. Reinstatement of two bodies at Ross Bay, for reburial, was sanctioned.

M. Farmer, an employee in the parks department, will be superannuated at his own request. The wiring inspector was voted an increased car allowance, on account of extended areas of inspection.

Tenders will be called for the use of advertising space on the back of city water bills. A total of $850 was voted for water service at the David Spencer and William Stevenson Memorial Parks.

A total of $24,000 in sinking funds will be invested through the Royal Financial Corporation and A. E. Ames and Company, at bond prices to yield from 5.10 to 5.12 per cent.

CITY LOOKS AHEAD FOR ROAD COSTS

City Engineer F. M. Preston Places $1,250,000 as Sum Required Up to 1940

Capital Expenditures For Streets in Addition to $445,000 Named For Watersheds

Approximately $1,250,000 will be required in capital expenditures for street improvements and incidental works during the next ten years in Victoria, F. M. Preston, city engineer, reported to the City Council last night, in line with Mayor Herbert Anscomb's plan of drafting a skeleton budget of probable costs in advance.

This adds to some $445,000 reported as likely cost of improvements to be required in the waterworks service in the same ten-year period, up to 1939-40.

The council received the report for study, and copies will be handed to each alderman for his perusal at greater length. Mr. Preston's report was as follows:

COST $1,250,000

"His Worship the Mayor has asked me to give you some idea as to the capital expenditure that may be necessary for street improvements, etc., during the next ten-year period, and the following are the improvements which in my opinion may be required, following favorable developments in the city.

"It should be noted that sewer and surface drains are not considered.

PAINTER HAD STOMACH TROUBLE 5 YEARS

It's pretty discouraging when a hard-working man has such severe Stomach Trouble as to keep him from work for two weeks at a time. Such was the serious condition of Mr. Herbert Brown, 66 Toronto Street, Winnipeg, when he first tried Tanlac. "Whatever I ate," writes Mr. Brown, "did me no good. It soured on my stomach and the gas would get around my heart and cause it to palpitate until I thought it would jump out of my body. I had to give up eating solid food and lived practically on milk. For fully five years this kept up, as I had not been able to get any benefit from the medicine I tried.

"At last I decided to get Tanlac and this put me right on my feet. My stomach is now in splendid condition and I eat like a horse. Everything agrees with me and I have never had a sign of gas or bloating since taking Tanlac."

This is only one of thousands of people who have been helped back to health and strength by taking Tanlac. Let it do the same for you. Get a bottle to-day at your druggist's. Money back if it doesn't help you.

The total of the above amounts to in round figures, $950,000.

ADDITIONAL WORKS

"2. Replacement of block paving in the business district, $30,000.

"3. City's share of concrete sidewalks, $100,000.

"4. Garbage incinerator, $100,000.

"5. Total, approximately $1,250,000," concluded the report.

CLAIMS LAND SCHEME SOUND

U.B.C. Subdivision Can Be Made to Help University, Says Pattullo

Conservatives, in Opposition, Tried to Retard Development

It was never expected that Point Grey University lands would immediately contribute to the cost of the University of British Columbia, T. D. Pattullo, leader of the Opposition in the Legislature, stated to-day in dealing with implied criticism of the former administration in a Victoria dispatch published in Vancouver.

The news item told of Government alarm because instead of establishing a huge fund to pay the operating costs of the university, as originally intended, the Government Point Grey subdivision is barely paying its own costs. This conclusion is reached, the article says, after a preliminary investigation into the progress of land sales conducted by A. N. Daykin, Vancouver lawyer, as special commissioner.

"It was necessary," says Mr. Pattullo, "to incur a heavy overhead in the way of road construction to serve the whole area in order to develop the units that have already been developed, and it is not surprising that it is taking some time to meet overhead.

"If the area is properly handled there is no reason why it should not show a profit to go towards the payment of the construction of university buildings.

"Everyone knows that the present leaders of the Tory Party, while in Opposition, did everything they possibly could to injure and retard every development scheme undertaken by the Liberal administration."

Mrs. Anderson Was Speaker at W.M.S. Meeting Yesterday

The regular monthly meeting of the Metropolitan W.M.S., which met in the schoolroom of the church yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, opened with the singing of a hymn, the Scripture lesson being read by Mrs. Ede, and the prayer offered by Mrs. Walker.

Very satisfactory reports were given by the different secretaries, the stranger's secretary reporting seventy-one calls made and thirteen letters written by her department.

Mrs. Anderson gave a very interesting review of the fifth chapter of the study book, "Drums in Darkness," in which was related the remarkable conversion of a native chief through the ministry of Dr. and Mrs. Currie, who, after their retirement from the mission field in Africa, resided for some years at Royal Oak.

The chapter goes on to describe the radical reforms carried out under the direction of the chief in his native village, his subsequent imprisonment and later his release which was effected through friends.

After the singing of a solo by Mrs. Holmes, Miss Braik, the president, gave a most interesting description of the work of Dr. Mary Cushman, who as a medical missionary was located in Africa, seventy-five miles from a railroad, 500 miles from the coast and twelve miles from the equator. During her stay in Africa Dr. Cushman trained young men in medicine and surgery.

Dr. Cushman has been spending this year on furlough in the New England states, but will return to Africa during the summer.

The meeting closed with prayer, led by Mrs. Lee.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

AN APPRECIATIVE MOTHER

Reading your column has helped me more than I can tell. My first baby was, oh, so spoiled, and I wore myself out caring for her, and in return had nothing but a spoiled, nervous child. The whole truth was I didn't know enough to leave her alone.

"Now my second baby is five months old. She is being reared in accordance with your baby books distributed by the government. (Editor's note: Mrs. Eldred's leaflets are distributed by this newspaper, not the government. Government booklets are not written by her.)"

"She has four feedings at the breast and one bottle feeding daily. She sleeps six hours in the daytime and from ten to six at night without waking. I am so proud and happy that I want to tell everyone that there is nothing like schedule and regularity."

"Now I wish to know if she is too young to have a sun bath in the open in a sun-suit?"

"Also, I want to say a word about fears in children. My daughter two years of age started asking for a light to go to bed and I told her she could have one, but that with a light she wouldn't be able to see the stars or moon. So she forgot about the light question. Now I tell her a pretty fairy story at bedtime and she goes to bed with happy thoughts."

ANSWER

Your experience is worth something, because you have tried both ways and discovered for yourself that regularity and schedules pay. The mothers who say with scorn: "There is nothing to this regularity," are without exception the mothers who have never tried to train a child to a regular schedule and, therefore, have no way of comparing haphazard methods and scientific ones. It often happens though that they convince young mothers with new babies that modern ways are useless, and so start them off all wrong.

The baby can have a sunbath daily as soon as the weather is definitely warm. We have a leaflet on how to give sunbaths which will help you in going slowly with sunbaths, and in making the exposures brief and of gradually lengthening duration. For the small baby there doesn't seem to be much use for a sun-suit. The baths are most effectively when given in the nude.

Your method of helping your little girl to enjoy the darkness was a good one. I wouldn't have made one statement to her though, because it wasn't true, and we must always stick to the truth in dealing with small impressionable children. You might have told her that in the dark she could more easily talk to Peter Rabbit... if she had the light on was in the way of being a sort of threat, wasn't it? And of course she should know that Peter Rabbit is just a make-believe rabbit. She'll enjoy him just as much, knowing this. I didn't include this in your letter for fear that the suggestion might be followed by someone else.

Will Exhibit Work Of School Children At Lamson Street

An exhibition of manual training, home economics and class work will be given by the Lamson Street School in its auditorium to-morrow afternoon and evening. The building will be open to visitors from 2.30 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and again from 7 to 9.30 o'clock.

Particular pains have been taken by the different teachers to show their students displays to advantage and a colorful and interesting spectacle is promised those who view the children's work.

Wedding Guest—This is your fourth daughter to get married, isn't it? MacTight—Ay, and our confetti's gettin' awfu' gritty.

POLICEWOMAN'S VIEWPOINT ON CRIME PROBLEM

"There Is Too Much Sentimental Rubbish" Said Commander-in-Chief

Berlin, June 18 — Miss Mary Allen, commander-in-chief of the British policewomen, spoke and span in a saty dark uniform and shining boots, made short shrift of the United States crime wave problem during yesterday's sessions of the Women's International Suffrage Alliance.

"There is too much sentimental rubbish," she said decisively. "We are settled. We have a leaflet on how to be first at the expense of others. Shall we sacrifice the law-abiding majority for the freedom of the law-breaking minority? We must have order."

As a first step for the United States, Miss Allen suggested: "Get your policewomen into uniform. It's a deterrent."

After receiving a message of greeting from Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, and cabling her in reply, the session heard reviews of progress in women's equality during the past twenty-five years.

A state luncheon, a formally offered few guests of the city, was given to the delegates in the rooms of the Old Rathaus.

Salads keep them fit!

TRY THESE RECIPES

TOMATO AND LETTUCE SALAD

Arrange some lettuce leaves in a bowl. Peel and slice tomatoes and set slices on lettuce leaves. Just before serving, dress with mayonnaise or French dressing. French dressing is preferable and the accepted way of serving is to put some of the salad on a plate and pour a ladleful of dressing over it.

FRENCH DRESSING

Place 1/4 cup of salad oil, 2 tablespoonsful of vinegar, 1 teaspoonful of paprika, 1 teaspoonful of powdered sugar, 1/2 teaspoonful of Colman's Mustard, 1 teaspoonful of salt and a dash of cayenne in a bottle or cruet. Chill and shake vigorously just before serving. A little onion juice, garlic or Worcestershire sauce may be added if desired.

FOR health at any time of year, but especially in hot weather, serve salads once or more a day!

Salads are not only recommended by expert dietitians and health authorities everywhere, but also they are appetizing—form a colourful part of any meal—and are appreciated by all.

And, remember, when serving a salad that its success rests chiefly upon the dressing. Make your salad dressings carefully and be sure that each recipe you use calls for English mustard as one of the ingredients.

English Mustard adds tang and character to a salad dressing—imparts added flavour and zest to the salad—and aids digestion, too. Colman's Mustard is pure, full-strength and healthful. It has been known and praised by famous cooks and chefs for generations. Use it confidently in your salad dressings and in your cooking. Have it fresh-mixed on the table when you serve cold meats, ham, roasts, sausages, fish or cheese.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

A PRETTY AND EASY STITCH

One Mother Says—

A pretty couching stitch that almost does itself is made on any children's garment with the help of the sewing machine. Simply stitch around the hem with the largest machine stitch possible and through every other stitch slip a needle threaded with embroidery thread. If this is done in contrasting threads, such as black machine stitching and pink embroidery thread, it makes a pretty trimming and yet—easy one to do.

SARNIA AUDIENCE HEARS BENNETT

Sarnia, Ont., June 18—Hon. R. B. Bennett, Federal Conservative leader, in the course of his tour of Ontario, addressed two meetings in Lambton County yesterday, one in Sarnia in the evening and the other in Petrolia in the afternoon.

In all his speeches so far the Conservative leader has confined himself to fiscal matters and he did so again yesterday. He voiced his party's policy of more tariff protection for Canadian industry. He spoke of the Australian and New Zealand trade treaties and said that under them butter was being imported into this country in such quantities as almost to ruin the Canadian dairy industry.

Miller's Got Brains

Student—If I knocked my head against Miller's head, should we get concussion of the brain?

Professor—Miller might.

CANADIAN CLUB MEMBERS VISIT GREAT BRITAIN

Belfast, June 18 (Canadian Press Cable).—Members of the Association of Canadian Clubs started the organization's first tour of Europe yesterday, arriving here from Montreal. In a few days the party will travel to Liverpool and visit many parts of England and Scotland.

Even before you leave the train or the Rhine steamer, you hear of the marvels accomplished at the Beauty Salon of Sterck-Schinzol in Cologne.

Situated on the "high street," near the Köln Cathedral, it has been the most renowned beauty establishment in the Rhine district since 1889.

Sterck-Schinzol of Cologne finds new way to safeguard lovely skin

"I always advise my clients to use Palmolive because it is a pure blend of olive and palm oils, both of which have been recognized for thousands of years as wonderful cleansing agents and emollients."

Schinzol

Köln, HOHESTRASSE 135

SCHINZOL of the House of Sterck-Schinzol of Cologne explains why he features Palmolive Soap in his shop, why he always advises its use for the care of the skin.

"A skin which is properly cleansed every day with soap and warm water will respond the more readily to treatment and improve remarkably in quite a short space of time," he announces.

"Not that I recommend all soaps indiscriminately. Many soaps contain harsh ingredients that are definitely harmful to the skin. I always advise my clients to use Palmolive because it is a pure blend of olive and palm oils."

In recommending Palmolive, Sterck and Schinzol join an international gallery of beauty specialists who advise this twice-a-day treatment: massage a creamy lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water, then with cold. "Use this as a basic treatment before applying any cosmetics, if you'd retain a smooth, lovely skin," authorities tell you—in all the great capitals and resorts of Europe, Canada and the United States!

AT THE THEATRES

MARY BRIAN AND RICHARD ARLEN IN DOMINION PICTURE

Love, its ups and downs, as Richard Arlen and the lovely Mary Brian can portray it, is the theme of the Dominion Theatre's attraction for the first half of the week, the all-talking picture, "The Man I Love."

Richard Arlen, who played opposite Clara Bow in "Ladies of the Mob" with Charles (Buddy) Rogers in "Wings" and opposite Nancy Carroll in "Manhattan Cocktail," is here given a leading role opposite another popular favorite of the screen, the winsome Mary Brian.

The picture tells the story of an ambitious young man who decides to seek fame in New York. The home-town girl to whom he is engaged follows him to the big city only to find that, through the interest of a wealthy society woman, he has made an instantaneous success and, drunk with popularity, has entered into a mad whirl of living. The active jealousy of a rival and the home-town girl's decision to leave him bring him to his senses. It is a picture filled with emotion, bubbling with humor and packed with thrills.

HISTORIC SCENES

FEATURE OF FILM AT THE PLAYHOUSE

"The King of Kings," a picture drama dealing with the last two years of the life of Christ, is being presented at playhouse Theatre this week. It is the film on which Cecil B. De Mille was engaged for a year and which he directed from an adaptation by Jeanie Macpherson, based on the New Testament narrative.

In "The King of Kings" are reproduced the great historical locales of Galilee, the Temple, and the Halls of Caiaphas and Pilate, the Hall of Calvary and the Easter Garden so familiar to readers of the narrative or those who have traveled in the Holy Land.

Eighteen principal roles were required; there were no less than 530 named roles and 4,228 supernumeraries. Among the noteworthy principals may be mentioned H. B. Warner, Dorothy Cumming, Ernest Torrence, Joseph Schildkraut, Jacqueline Logan, Rudolph Schildkraut, Montagu Love, Sam De Grasse, Victor Varconi, Theodore Kosloff, George Siegmann, Majel Coleman, William Boyd, Julia Payne and Robert Edson.

WAS TEMPORARILY BLIND TO PORTRAY SIGHTLESS MAN

Holmes Herbert, who plays opposite Belle Bennett in Columbia's "The Sporting Age," which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre, had the discomfort of being sightless during some of the scenes of the production. He portrays a man, who temporarily loses his vision. In order to secure the starest, glazed orb of a blind person Herbert had drops placed in his eyes under each lid. These enlarged the pupils and made him temporarily blinded by the bright lights of the studio.

PLENTY OF HUMOR IN PLAY SHOWING AT THE COLISEUM

Laughs in plenty are in store for all those who this week visit the Coliseum Theatre where the Coliseum Players, under the direction of Raymond "Toby" Leitch, are presenting one of their funniest stage presentations, a play entitled "Disappearing Jimmie." For nearly an hour and a half the theatre patrons are kept in continuous roar of laughter by the humorous expressions and comical situations enacted by the various members of the clever little cast.

That play this week concerns a family in a small country town and each of the players has an admirable part and one that suits his or her talents to perfection. Miss Ada Daniels has the role of an unmarried woman, who by her generous nature and lovable personality is held in high esteem by all who know her.

Miss Esther Todd is particularly humorous and clever as the young maid in the country household, ignorant and uneducated, but lovable and unconscious; witty, Miss Leone Webber is cast as a pretty country school teacher, who later falls in love with a wealthy business man.

"Toby" Leitch and Lorus Bagley have the comic roles, being cast as a young rustic and a country constable, respectively. With his witty dialogue and almost ridiculous antics, Mr. Leitch gives one of the finest performances of his career in Victoria. Mr. Bagley also makes his debut as a clever comedian and keeps his friends and admirers in roars of laughter. Paul Wallace and Leon Cliff, the other members of the cast have the roles of hard-headed business men.

On the screen this week Manager McEwan is presenting a picture entitled "Mother Machree." In connection with this Paul Wallace appears on the stage and pleasingly renders Arthur Ball's famous song of the same name. Mr. Wallace's voice is a musical one and in this popular selection he appears at his best.

IMMORTAL STORY BY DUMAS SHOWS AT THE CAPITOL

Do you want to see a truly magnificent picture with a powerful story, interesting people and superb settings? Do you want to forget the humdrum "now" and spend an hour or two in the romantic "then" of the seventeenth century France, when kings and cardinals moved through stately palaces, and an iron masked captive paced the stone floor of an island fortress?

Do you want to see D'Artagnan, brought to vivid life by Douglas Fairbanks, riding with his three loyal musketeers, Athos, Porthos and Aramis, upon their quest for romance and adventure?

Then you must see "The Iron Mask," the latest Fairbanks "sound" picture, which opened last night at the Capitol Theatre for a week's engagement.

You will find everything you want in this story of Dumas's immortal guardsmen, comedy and tragedy, love and hate, war and the intrigues of peace. You will thrill with the daring of D'Artagnan, laugh with the boisterous Porthos, sigh with the amorous Aramis and the scholarly Athos, and perhaps shed a tear or two as the story unfolds.

Investment Bankers
Focus Attention On Prosperity In West

Minaki Lodge, June 18.—The Investment Bankers' Association of Canada late Monday opened a three-day session of their thirteenth annual convention as guests of the western section of the association: Minaki Lodge, 112 miles east of Winnipeg, is operated by the Canadian National Railways, and is one of the beauty spots of Canada. Ninety members of the leading investment banking firms in Canada took part in the proceedings, the attendance representing nearly every large city in the Dominion.

President Harry Ford of Oiler, Hammond and Nanton, Winnipeg, in his opening address, paid a strong tribute to Canadian prosperity, stating that behind it all is a profound belief in the country's future. The struggle with geographical problems is being overcome, he said, by the expansion and extension of our two railways. The world is hearing about the Dominion's natural resources. Industrial life is quickening. Mines and oil fields are receiving active attention and hydroelectric power is being developed on a large scale to supply present and future demands.

HIGH LIGHTS OF WESTERN

PROSPERITY

Vice-president A. H. Williamson of Winnipeg, chairman of the western section, followed the president with an interesting review of progress in the four western provinces. In Manitoba, greater than for the previous year. The sale of the northern railways of Alberta to the C.P.R. provides the province with approximately $5,000,000 in cash, and relieves it of the necessity of meeting annual deficits on the operation of the road. On top of this the provincial treasurer reports the largest surplus in the history of Alberta.

"British Columbia," Mr. Williamson states, "is enjoying greater progress than at any time since the war. Lumbering, mining, agriculture and fisheries have embarked on an era which will ultimately lead to considerable increase in population. The year 1928 for the port of Vancouver was the busiest in its history. More ships entered and cleared than in any previous year. Tonnage of imports and exports increased substantially, particularly exports to foreign countries."

RURAL DEBT LESS THAN PRE-WAR

In conclusion he drew attention to the service the Investment Bankers' Association is doing the west in assisting the financing of municipalities and in distributing the resulting surpluses. As showing the conservative attitude of western borrowers, he quoted the Minister of Municipal Affairs for Saskatchewan, that since 1922 arrears of taxes in rural municipalities were reduced from approximately $13,000,000 to $8,000,000 at the end of 1927, and that since that time a further decrease of 38 per cent has been effected. "I feel," he said, "that the remarkable statement," said the "that debenture indebtedness of all the rural municipalities in Saskatchewan is now $250,000 less than it was in 1912."

Board of Trade. During the past year 8,400 people have been added to the payrolls of Manitoba's factories and the total production increased by $33,000,000.

$22,000,000 IN NEW CONSTRUCTION

In Saskatchewan building permits for the year 1928 in the three cities of Regina, Moose Jaw and Saskatoon alone amounted to $13,500,000 and total construction for the whole province is estimated to have been $22-000,000 or nearly double the figure for 1927. Citing a striking example of the better financial position of the population, Mr. Williamson stated that the local government board reports tax collection throughout the province to have been more easily collected in the past year than in any previous period.
Touching on mining and power developments he called attention to the first great hydro-electric power enterprise to be undertaken in Saskatchewan to provide cheap power for the Film Pion Mine.

ALBERTA AND B.C. BOOMING

In Alberta the same story of prosperity was repeated. "The Turner Valley," he said, "is now a proven oil field, and it is reported that $4,000,000 will be spent in further development of Alberta's oil resources this year.

Striking growth is taking place in the cities. In Calgary, Edmonton, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat, new buildings in 1928 had a value in excess of $10,000,000, which is much greater than for the previous year. The sale of the northern railways of Alberta to the C.P.R. provides the province with approximately $5,000,000
in cash, and relieves it of the necessity of meeting annual deficits on the operation of the road. On top of this the

"LOVE IS OF THE VALLEY"

By DAVID LYALL

"Lost Wally? How?"

"He came home from New Zealand to join up. He was in the Royal Scots, and was killed at La Basse in 1917."

"He came home and was killed at La Basse," repeated Ida in a low, vibrant voice. "But how extraordinary. Of course, I forget that I've been away nearly six years. Bee, you haven't changed a bit, excepting to grow younger, and quite beautiful. I expect it is happiness. And so you are John Brodie's wife?"

"I am, thank God," said Beatrice out of the fulness of her heart.

"You don't look a bit the same. Look at me! I'm three years younger than you, but see my grey hairs. That was Germany, and what I've been through. They fed me on lies. They told me Edinburgh had been sacked and burned, and that the North Bridge had been blown up, and all the Forts demolished. That was the stuff the German people were fed on, and even now they think the war ended by mutual consent, and when the troops came back they received them like conquerors."

"I'm glad they did, poor boys; they deserved that poor recompense," said Beatrice, and in her eyes were soft depths of infinite compassion.

"I'm sorry for some sections of them," said Ida. "Of course there are decent ones in Germany same as here. But—but I want to be cut off and to cut off Walter."

"Did they let you call him Walter?" asked Beatrice, in amazement.

"His German name is Otto, but he shall be Walter—his surname I haven't decided yet. Could it be Heron, do you think, Beatrice? Is there any law against my giving my son my own name?"

"No law, but we'll talk all this over again, my dear. Meanwhile, all that matters is that you are here safely. Now I must go and see your little son."

"And John won't mind if I stay here for a while," Beatrice smiled.

"John Brodie will make you so welcome you'll think it is your own, Ida; that is the kind of man John Brodie is. He lives to help lame dogs over stiles."

"Well, I'm a very lame one, so perhaps he'll enjoy helping me. He looks so big and strong. He will keep them away, won't he, and not let them take Walter, even if they find out where I am?"

A note of wildness crept into her voice; she laid her fingers almost convulsively on her sister's arm.

"He is very wise and strong, Ida, and very good," she answered with high confident note in her voice. "Be sure he will stand by you. But I don't think you need fear that they will rush over here to take your little son from you. Why should they?"

"Oh, because they are like that," cried Ida feverishly. "They think German is the only country in the world, and that all others should bow down before them. I never should have got away from that prison, Bee, if I hadn't run away. The German doctor, a quite decent man who had been through the whole of the war and lost everything he possessed, helped me. He said the child needed a change from Aeneburg; that it was absolutely necessary to get both him and me away for a time. So we were transferred from one system of surveillance to another. But of course, it was easier in Hamburg. But I had no money, Bee, and I still owe the captain of the Pelican for my passage."

"Come and tell John," said Beatrice pitifully, her heart a strange medley of conflicting emotions.

"Is this the peace, John?" she asked later when they were in the shelter of their own room. "Do you think that things will ever come right? That this frightful orgy of hate and murder and black revenge will ever be swept off the earth?"

"In time," John answered in his calm, untroubled voice, "the seas will sink to the bottom and the waters become clear again. Meanwhile our job is not to stand by doing nothing, but to be active in trying to bring about a better state of things."

"But surely your sympathise with poor Ida's desire and determination to keep her son and bring him up as a German?"

"As his father is dead, she is right. But perhaps the day will come when she will feel differently. Apparently Welle was kind to her. She has nothing to say against him."

Beatrice shivered, recalling the personality of the man, and some of the things her sister had told her.

"It seems an awful thing to say, but I can't help feeling thankful that he is not alive to complicate things. But she has no money. I hadn't thought of that. She even owes her passage to that kind Captain Craig who helped her away."

"That won't matter, my dear. Surely we can share what we have with these poor waifs. There is nothing to hinder her staying here while we are abroad. I don't think for a moment the Walleys will seek her here. It is not as if the boy's father was alive."

"So there will be another Walter Heron growing up in Linnor—little waif, half German, half Scotch. I wonder whether Ida will be strong enough to eradicate what she calls the German taint in him?"

"Some of that bitterness will pass, darling. It must pass if the world's hurt is to be healed. Everything is in the child's hands in these days. He is omnipotent ever since the Master Himself called him and set him in the midst."

These words, so true, so prophetic, stilled the confusion and the tumult in Beatrice's heart. As she turned away to be busy about her toilet, her mind was full of strange thoughts, of the mystery of life and death, of the mutability of human affairs, but, about all, the unchanging and blessed nature of the great virtues. Family ties, warm human affection, loyalty between man and man, these make the only foundation for home, the only bulwarks for the State. Only operating through them can peace return to a blood-stained and tormented world. Going softly about her duties in the home of her heart, Beatrice took her vows upon her that so far as in her lay, whether as wife, mother, or daughter of the State, she would do her part unflinchingly and with a single heart for the betterment of the world.

Sorrow and disappointment and the heart-sickness of hope deferred had taught her at last that love is the only argument, and that life and happiness, and peace, all the precious things for which men have fought and died, do follow in its train.

"But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love, and for an helmet the hope of salvation."

LEGION WILL GIVE SCROLL

Monterey Ave. School to Receive First of Series of Memorial Scrolls

Monterey Avenue School will be the scene of the presentation of the first scroll to be given to schools of the Province by the Canadian Legion, when the movement is inaugurated on Friday, June 21, at 2:30.

As the resolution, introduced at the Chilliwack convention, which provides for this action, was moved by a delegate from a Victoria branch, it was considered fitting that the first presentation be made to a Victoria school. But as it is impossible to make the necessary arrangements with the trustees in time for action to be taken before the schools close for the holidays, an alteration has had to be made.

Capt. Dexter, principal of Monterey Avenue School, willingly consented to accept the scroll on behalf of the school at a brief ceremony before the end of the school year.

The scroll, which is in the form of an ash with words that designate the qualities which made a desirable character embodied in the columns, is supplied in blank to the school and a pupil selected for the purpose will inscribe thereon the following words:

"To the memory of that great company of known and unknown heroes who, from the schoolroom, went out to fight the battle of life, and by perseverance, service and determination conferred great benefit upon mankind, this tribute is dedicated by the pupils of Monterey Avenue School, June 21, 1929."

Messrs. Spurgin and Semeyn prepared the drawing from which the cuts were made.

The object of the Canadian Legion is to influence children in the schools, and cause them to realize the nobility of service rendered in the interest of their fellow men.

The scroll honors the service of pioneers in every walk of life and carries with it the suggestion from men who fought for the Empire, that faithful work of men and women in striving to preserve peace and increase the happiness and comfort of others is the noblest work that can be performed.

Smart Doings of Animals

Cats Made Trade of Rations

The celebrated Rev. J. G. Wood, whose studies of cats led him to conclude that "their intelligence is equivalent to that of a few dogs, and surpassed by none," recited a case where two cats transacted a business deal.

This pair, an old and young one, lived in a wholesale wine cellar. Senior cat, to eat mice, was too old to catch them, so he had to content with the catmew which was regularly rationed to him. But when Junior joined him in the cellar he at once perfected an arrangement whereby the younger cat brought him a mouse every day, in return for which favor Senior passed over a part of his catbilly meat.

"These words, so true, so prophetic, stilled the confusion and the tumult in Beatrice's heart. As she turned away to be busy about her toilet, her mind was full of strange thoughts, of the mystery of life and death, of the mutability of human affairs, but, about all,

When a Child is FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour bleaching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract. When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting. Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book "Useful Information." Address The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont. It will be sent FREE. In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over fifty years. (Adv.)

The boys who amount to the most in life are usually those who know what they are going to do when they are still very young. One such boy was Cyrus H. K. Curtis, born June 18, 1880, who became one of the leading publishers of the world, owning newspapers and magazines.

Before he was in his teens he started carrying newspapers, just as many another boy does to-day. He loved being around the newspaper office and would often go early for his papers so he could listen to the presses as they turned out the freshly printed papers, and could catch a glimpse into the inside of what seemed to him the most wonderful place of the world.

Cyrus thought he would have a paper himself some day, but he wasn't going to wait until he was grown-up. In order to start, he decided to make a little newspaper of his own, writing everything himself and evening printing it.

When he was only thirteen he issued his first paper, four pages, as a newspaper for the neighborhood boys and girls. He called it Young America.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Little Party

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily sat on a log in the woods with an empty basket beside him. In a half circle on the ground in front of the rabbit gentleman sat two ants, two red spotted Squirrel Bugs, two fuzzy caterpillars, two chirping black crickets and two green grasshoppers. One grasshopper was fat and the other grasshopper was thin.

"Aren't there any crumbs of cookies, or cakes, or pie, or pudding or anything good like that in your basket?" buzzed one Squirrel Bug.

"Not a crumb, I am sorry to say," answered Uncle Wiggily. "As I told you, this is an empty basket. I was taking to the store to get some potatoes for Nurse Jane. But, as I also told you, I will get you some crumbs."

You remember, in the story last night, how the ants, crickets, grasshoppers, Squirrel Bugs and caterpillars had followed Uncle Wiggily to the woods, thinking he had some lunch in the basket and that they could pick up the crumbs he dropped.

So they had a fine little party and the Lady Mouse Teacher had cheese for her lunch and she scattered cheese crumbs for the grasshoppers, who were very fond of cheese. Then Uncle Wiggily played a game of tag with Jackie and Peetle Bow Wow and hopped on to the store with his basket to buy potatoes. And if the rain will please stop dropping down off the roof and tickling the sidewalk, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the sad worm.

To-morrow's Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19, 1929

Except in the early morning hours this is rather an unlucky day, according to astrology. Malefic aspects are ominous.

There is a promise sign for those who start business before the rush hours. Even new enterprises should benefit.

While this way prevails employers probably will profit from wise policies, but wage-earners may be discontented.

Wrong ideas easily find harbor in the human mind under this direction of the stars, which inclines all but the extremely forceful to blame fate for their own lack of success.

Lovers may suffer from jealousy, since logic probably will be even less at command than at other times.

Under this rule of the planets mental quirkiness may be prevalent and unreasonableness most apparent in ordinary transactions, the seers warn.

The rule is unfavorable to domestic peace. Women should practice patience and diplomacy where male members of the family are involved.

Saturn is in a place supposed to have a bad effect upon persons entrusted with public business. Craft and corruption will be uncovered in European cities as well as in those of the United States.

Men of prominence who will be involved in dubious enterprises will be difficult to punish under this star, which makes for the strong organization of evil forces.

Fear due to intimidation will hamper those who are supposed to administer justice, astrologers have prognosticated again and again.

An earthquake is supposed to threaten Italy or a region near it, and tidal waves may cause damage, a London astrologer foretells.

Again danger of an epidemic imported from foreign parts is foretold, and coast cities are admonished to protect the people. Health safeguards should be placed wherever infection is possible, it is warned.

Persons whose birthday it is should have a lucky year, but they should beware of lending money.

Children born on this day probably will be ambitious, studious and serious in nature. These subjects of helpful planetary guidance usually have many friends and are inclined to be too generous for their own good.

Blaise Pascal, famous mathematician and writer, was born on this date, 1623. Earl Haig, 1861, and the light on this day.

"Ho, red robin!" called Uncle Wiggily.

But alas! The basket was empty!

"How are you going to get us some crumbs to eat if there are no puddings, cakes, pies or cookies in your basket?" sang the fat grasshopper.

"I'll find a way," said Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose.

But for all that he knew it would not be easy. But to himself he said:

"I have fooled the Bad Chaps. Many and many a time I have gotten away from the Fuzzie Fox and the Wootzie Wolf, so I think I ought to be able to get some crumbs for these hungry friends of mine."

So Uncle Wiggily looked this way and he looked that way through the woods, but he saw no crumbs.

Then he listened with his two long ears, but he heard no crumbs falling like rain or snow flakes, and the rabbit gentleman began to feel sad. For he knew the crickets, the grasshoppers and Squirrel Bugs were hungry, to say nothing of the crickets and caterpillars.

All of a sudden, though, Uncle Wiggily saw a red robin fly out of the air and perch on a tree branch over his head. And the red robin bird began eating some crumbs which it had been carrying in its beak.

"Ho, red robin!" called Uncle Wiggily to the bird, "please tell me where you found some crumbs so I may lead my friends there to get some for them, as they are very hungry. Where did you find any crumbs to eat?"

"Crumbs!" chirped the red robin. "Why I know where you can pick up all the crumbs you want to eat! Ha! Ha! There are plenty of crumbs!"

"Where? Where? Where?" cried the ants, the Squirrel Bugs, the caterpillars, the crickets and the grasshoppers.

"Where are the crumbs?"

"In the yard of the Hollow Stump School!" said the red robin. "It is now
